TAKEN IN.

The Sharper Wins the Last Trick.

A prominent Sacramentan who has been in attendance at the Nevada State Fair relates the following story about a friend of his who went around the city of Reno one evening with the intention of seeing the elephant but met with the tiger instead. [For the sake of perspicuity in this legend we will call the gentleman who perambulated in search of the royal beast Charles, while we dub the other party William.]

Two days before the Fair closed Charley strolled out to see the many phases of life that are visible when a number of people are collected in a city upon unusual occasions, and for exciting purposes. He sauntered carelessly through the streets, and into public places, occasionally meeting a friend and "smiling" with him. Towards ten o'clock he happened into a saloon where a rondo game was progressing, and after watching it for awhile concluded to bet a few dollars on the outside, "just for the fun of the thing." Like all beginners at a game, he had wonderful luck and won a considerable sum in a short time. But all at once the old hands refused to roll against him, on the ground that he was a "voudou," when the game keeper ruled him out. Just as he left the table a man stepped up and shook him warmly by the hand, saying: "Well, I am glad that you got away with all those sharpers because they have been fleecing the greenhorns ever since the Fair began. Let us go and take a drink." Charley thought the fellow was a very fine gentleman and readily consented to imbibe with him. After they had taken a single glass of "suthin' strong" another individual joined the party and was introduced to Charley by his new acquaintance as "a capital fellow, only not quite up to snuff, having but lately arrived from the East." Charley patronizingly invited the "immigrant" to drink with him, which was not rejected. By this time the Sacramentan began to feel pretty lively and was prepared to consent to any plan for "raising Cain" than might be proposed, and so, when the latest addition to the party suggested that it was very dull and nothing would relieve the monotony half as well as a social game of cards, he readily agreed to a game of "Pedro" for the cigars. It is useless to enlarge on the mode in which the game was conducted and relate the manner in which the strangers cheated their victim out of all his money, beside prevailing on him to stake his jewelry on what he considered an invincible hand, because that is too well understood by everybody. They succeeded in making their prey drink until he was drunk, but the loss of his cash and jewelry restored him to sobriety in a wonderful short time, and when he asked the return of his jewelry, saying that he did not wish to be seen without it, they yielded a graceful consent, having no desire to show by their conduct that they were not honest gentlemen, and the party broke up under an engagement to meet in the same place at 10 o'clock in the morning. Morning came but he did not receive a draft which he expected and so Charley was compelled to ask his friend to loan him the money necessary to pay his "debt of honor." That gentleman at once perceived that there was something unusual in the wind and accordingly asked Charley what he proposed to do with such a large sum. This brought out the whole story of the previous night's adventure, and Robert, being a man of the world, instantly comprehended the whole trick. Determining to recover the lost money if possible, he told the fleeced youth to go to his room at 11 o'clock in company with his creditor, promising to settle the account at that time. Securing the services of a friend, he was in readiness to receive the biter in a manner that he had not expected. Charley came with the other at the time named. The latter was given a seat at a distance from the door and informed that he was known, that his little game was up and he must now either disgorge or be turned over to the tender mercies of the law. As the individual (who proved to be a notorious black-leg that was wanted by the police on more than one charge) had no desire to see the inside of the jail, he said that he had arranged to leave for the East and converted all his money into greenbacks, but if the gentlemen would accept them at the ruling rates a great deal of trouble would be saved. As our friends were only too glad to get anything back, they consented to take the legal tenders at 85 cents on the dollar, when the gambler drew from his pocket a roll of notes and paid the score without further parley, after which the rascal was allowed to depart. Next day the price of greenbacks went up to 86¼ cents, and Charley, thinking it a good time to get rid of his rag money, entered a bank and asked to have the paper changed for hard cash. None but an eye-witness can imagine the surprise and chagrin that was depicted on his countenance when he was informed that the notes were all bogus. As he was well known to the officers of the bank they only asked him how he came by the "queer," and heartily enjoyed the joke when he told the whole story of how his friend had imagined that he had played a very smart trick in making the sharper refund. As all the parties admired the scoundrel's audacity, and as none of them wished to figure in the courts as the victim of misplaced confidence, the "dead beat" did not receive the punishment which his weakness deserved. The interested parties tried to keep the story from the public, but it leaked out in some manner, as such things always do in the end.—Sac. Bee.

Women the World Over.

Theodore Tilton in his recent lecture said. "Now the world has been reaching a higher and higher opinion of woman. Go back to Calvary. Woman was the last at the cross and the first at the grave. Compare China and Europe in the matter of woman. The religion of Peking and Canton goes into its temple and says that woman has no soul, but the religion of Rome and Moscow says that woman is the most immaculate of all created souls. In the East it was asked what was lighter than a feather, and the answer was air. What is lighter than thought? Dream. What is lighter than a dream? Woman. And what is lighter than woman? Nothing. The time is gone when woman is nothing. Why, when De Jocqueville returned home from his visit to this country, he said if he were asked to account for the pre-eminence of America among the nations of the earth, he should ascribe it to the superiority of its woman. We have in this country two standards of virtue—one applicable to men and woman, and they are as wide apart as the poles. A man and woman unite to commit a venal sin. The man goes scot free with hardly a shadow on his brow. But society does not permit the forgiveness of a woman's sins. Now, this age has two things to ask touching woman. One is something for women; the other, something of woman. For woman, what? Wages, education, enfranchisement, all these things. Then the women of this country shall judge men by the same standard of morality by which men now judge women.

—A number of hotel keepers in Chicago who have been swindled frequently now require travelers to pay in advance. They say a man who intends to pay for his accommodations cannot object to the arrangement. One traveler, not appreciating the change in affairs, was questioned by a clerk, who said: "You will not object to paying before you go to your room, sir?" "Certainly not; make out the bill." "For how long, sir?" "Well," says the stranger, "you may charge me for about ten minutes, on the European plan. By the end of that time I think I shall be at a hotel where the clerks wear smaller diamonds and have more confidence in human nature!"

MATHIAS KELLER, composer of the American Hymn, died in Boston on the 13th

It is stated that there are 1,000 workmen engaged on the Centennial park at [illegible] at Philadelphia

LATER returns increase the Republican majority in Ohio to 15 000, and that in Iowa to [illegible] 000 The returns from Nebraska are unchanged

A ROMANTIC suicide lately occurred in Baltimore A young man who had been disappointed in love threw himself from the top of the Washington monument, 180 feet and was dashed all to pieces.

WALTER P JENNEY, geologist in the Black Hills reports to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs that there is very little gold in that region, and that what little there is is confined to a small tract of country

THE Democracy of Massachusetts have nominated John Quincy Adams for Lieutenant Governor in place of General Bartlett declined Charles G Davis is nominated for Congress in the First District

THE Democratic Committee of Ohio have been figuring down Hayes' majority and have got it as low as 2,000 Other reports show, however, that it has been increased rather than diminished by later returns

THE officers of the United States Coast Survey have made out the altitude of Mount Shasta to be 14 402 feet They have a cylindrical reflector on the summit which on clear days may be seen from 100 miles off

CARDINAL McCLOSKEY left Rome on Tuesday for Paris He will visit Cardinal Manning at London and Cardinal Cullen in Ireland He has ordered a splendid marble altar for the cathedral in New York to cost $40 000

THE Santa Cruz and Felton narrow gauge railroad was opened yesterday by an excursion and picnic to the Felton big trees in which 1 500 persons participated The first annual fair of the Santa Cruz Agricultural Society commenced today

THE Mayor of Chicago offered a gratuitous insult to President Grant at a banquet in that city last night The President [illegible] to the emergency, however, and in a quiet way administered a [illegible] which His Honor the Mayor will hardly forget right away The smart [illegible] of [illegible] haven't got away with Grant as far as heard from

THE [illegible] quarries near Columbia in Tuolumne county are likely to become of great value Over five hundred tons have been shipped this season for building and other purposes and the supply is inexhaustible The stone is susceptible of a fine polish, but is somewhat harder to work than Italian marble

[illegible] is [illegible] they do it in San Francisco

[illegible] truthfully says [illegible]

[illegible] of excessive [illegible]

And yet both articles are written by the same pen in the same office and by the same person Whether that will come under the head of self praise is for the public to judge It is a matter of no consequence however

A HORRIBLE affair is reported from Pembroke New Hampshire A young girl was murdered on her way to school by some person unknown The body was horribly mutilated, the head having been cut off and transported a considerable distance from the scene of the murder where it was found wrapped up in the girl's cloak It is supposed that she had been violated, beaten to death with a club and afterwards decapitated

THERE is a strong disposition manifested in various quarters of the State to secure a general law to regulate the subject of irrigation A special act applying only to Los Angeles county was passed last session, which appears to have been productive of beneficial results At any rate there ought to be some regulation to prevent the monopolizing and wastage of that precious element which should be distributed as impartially as the air

GENERAL HAYES, the Governor-elect of Ohio may be considered a progressive man During the war he was promoted from the situation of Major to that of Major General In 1861 he was elected to Congress and was re-elected two years after In 1867 he was elected Governor over Thurman, and in 1869 was re elected over Pendleton. He has now added to his remarkable prestige by defeating roaring Bill Allen, and his uniform good fortune may lead him still further on in the direction of the Presidency

CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE of the Supreme Court of the United States, has lately decided that under the Constitution women are not invested with the right of suffrage They are full citizens in the meaning of the organic law, but that does not invest them with the right to vote It is supposed that this decision will have some bearing on the modification of negro suffrage If the constitution and amendments do not confer the right of suffrage all Congressional legislation to secure the ballot to the negro is void, and the Southern States may disfranchise him

FRANK GROSS has been appointed chief clerk of the San Francisco Branch Mint This gentleman was editor of the San Francisco Post (Dem) during the recent political campaign His appointment to a lucrative Government position was doubtless a reward of merit for services rendered the Democratic party. Republican editors, who have labored for the success of their party, ought to feel highly complimented by the distinguished honor conferred upon a member of the editorial profession, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Gross has bitterly assailed the Administration with all the force of his practiced pen It is pleasant to note that the divine injunction, "Do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you," is being so closely observed by the "leaders" of the Republican party. Such a course is bound to strengthen the organization.

THE results of the Republican victory in Ohio are quite anomalous in their effect upon the public mind. Many Republican politicians profess to wish that it had been otherwise, in order that the inflation issue might have been forced upon the Democratic party in the Presidential campaign, while Democratic politicians for the same reason are glad that their party has been beaten in that State The defeat of the Western inflationists will have a very favorable effect on Gov Tilden's chances, but will hardly assure his nomination for the Presidency, as several of the leading Democratic journals of the West have announced their steadfast opposition to selecting the next candidate from that unlucky State Three Democratic candidates for the Presidency—McClellan, Seymour, and Greeley—have been successively nominated from New York, and all having been disastrously beaten, the Western Democracy now propose to give that State a short respite, as a source of Presidential supplies There is of course no reason in that sort of argument, but it will probably have some force in the next Convention, as the West is aware of its strength, and will be disposed to insist on sectional rotation

THE Sacramento Bee raises an important question in relation to the subject of irrigation by districts Shall the one, two or three owners of a majority of the acres in an irrigation district have the whole say as to whether, and when and how it shall be irrigated, while three or four hundred persons who own a minority of the acres are wholly ignored? Such an arrangement would be to encourage monopoly by direct legislation, and to give the great proprietors a monopoly of the water as well as of the land, and would be contrary to public policy The Bee is of opinion that each resident landowner of the district should be permitted to vote on such matters regardless of the number of acres he may own, just as he has a right to vote for State or county officers views in which we entirely coincide

THE unusual reticence of the President in relation to filling the vacant place in the Cabinet has created a vast amount of speculation upon the subject Nearly every prominent man and a great many not prominent, have been mentioned in connection with the position The last appointee by the newsgatherers is George C Gorham of this State The President might go farther and not find a person better qualified for the position , but it is probable that the new Secretary will be taken from one of the Eastern States.

AFTER General Spinner's retirement from office as Treasurer of the United States, some of his friends proposed to raise a sum of money and donate it to him, in consideration of his public services This the General declines in a recent letter He says he has only three children to provide for, and will be able to leave each of them $10,000 , and this, with an honest reputation, he considers a legacy which ought to satisfy them

A CORRESPONDENT of the Sacramento Bee suggests that measures be taken to stop the annual burning over of tule lands If the tules were suffered to rot down, the debris, added to the sediment deposited by the annual overflow, would in time raise the land above the water, so as not to be overflowed at all, and so become available for agriculture by natural reclamation It occurs to us that this is a question chiefly affecting very remote posterity

THE Council held a special meeting last evening and opened the bids for the remainder of the sewer bonds amounting to $67 000 The highest bid was 90 cents and the Council very properly rejected all the bids There is no reason why these bonds should not be taken at par, except the stringency of the money market The Council have readvertised for proposals which will be received up to November 4th

THE TRIBUNE yesterday noticed the appointment of Mr Saul to a position in the Mint The appointee is Mr. R M Saul son of the editor and proprietor of the San Leandro Record.

THE Naval Court of Inquiry at Vallejo on the Pinney case will continue until the 10th of November, and it is expected that the presence of several leading politicians will be required.

THE soldiers of Indiana have a great reunion at Indianapolis to-day and tomorrow Large delegations were coming from all parts of the State, and a grand demonstration was expected

SOME pumpkins—sixty tons of them were grown on three acres of land in Sonoma county

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Considerable inquiry has been made concerning the effect of the vote at the recent election for a Constitutional Convention, and also upon the proposed amendments to the State Constitution, which were officially published for some weeks prior to the election. Several contemporaries, in referring to the matter, have fallen into error concerning it The whole subject is capable of easy explanation In the first place, the official publication of the amendments proposed by the Legislature of 1873-4 was not for the purpose of having a popular vote taken thereon, and it will be remembered that the Governor's proclamation made no call for a vote upon amendments If we may indulge a presumption as to the reason for the publication at all, it was undoubtedly the object of the law to inform the people of a subject matter upon which members of the Legislature, for whom the people were to vote and to elect, might be called upon to act, and thus directly the publication became of interest to the voters, although calling for no direct judgment at the ballot-box It follows that all

THE VOTES CAST FOR THE AMENDMENTS WERE SURPLUSAGE

Upon the ballots, and of no effect whatever Article X, Section 1 of the Constitution provides "Any amendment * * * to this Constitution may be proposed in the Senate or Assembly, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two Houses, such proposed * * shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the Legislature then next to be chosen, and shall be published for three months next preceding the time of making such choice." If the Legislature about to assemble shall agree to the amendments, they will then be submitted to a vote of the people in such manner and at such time as the Legislature shall direct. In regard to the Constitutional Convention, section 2 of the same article of the State Constitution provides that if a Legislature deems it expedient, and shall recommend to the electors to vote for or against a Constitutional Convention, and it shall appear upon such voting that a majority of the electors voting have voted

IN FAVOR OF CALLING A CONVENTION,

Then the next Legislature shall provide for the Convention to be held within six months after the passage of the law so providing. Now the first step in this process was taken; the Legislature did submit the question of a Constitutional Convention to the electors voting September 1, 1875, but a majority of them did not approve. The vote for Governor stood, Irwin, 61,509, Phelps, 31,-322: Bidwell, 29,752. Total, 122,583. A majority of this aggregate vote would be 61,292, and hence that number of votes must have been cast for the Convention to make the recommendation of the Legislature in anywise effective The fact is, that 34,373 votes were cast for the Convention, being 26,918 too few That 24,552 votes were cast "Against Convention" is not an element to be considered in the matter, as negative votes were unnecessary , all silent ballots were negative votes, the Constitution requiring the affirmatives to be a majority of all the electors voting at the election and not upon the mere question It is therefore to be seen that the voting on both these propositions at the late election was non-effective Some of the misapprehensions on the subject arise out of

A SPECIMEN OF BLUNDERING LEGISLATION

By the last Legislature That body provided, in the Act it passed recommending to the electors to vote on the question of a Convention (Stat 1873 4, p 732), that "a majority of the aggregate vote of the State cast for members of the Legislature " should be the basis for determining the wish of the people in the premises It will be apparent to the dullest intelligence that by no calculation with legislative totals at the last election can the aggregate vote of the State be ascertained For instance, in Sacramento county there were sixteen candidates distributed upon four tickets By what system of computation can any one take the votes for the twelve Assemblymen and arrive at the true aggregate vote ? The thing is simply impossible —Record Union

Change in a Printing Firm.

By a notice in another column it will be observed that the printing firm of Butler & Stillwell has been dissolved, Mr. Stillwell retiring, having disposed of his interest to Mr. I. H. Bowman, late of Idaho. The latter gentleman is an old acquaintance of Mr. Butler, and his desire to be associated with him here has led to the change. He is a practical printer as well as a good business man, and we have no doubt the business will prosper as heretofore. Mr. Stilwell has not yet decided as to what pursuit he means to devote himself in the future, but he has our best wishes.

Michael O'Neill was up again to-day. This time it was for burglary, and not having $1,000 bail, he'll take his meals at the county's boarding house on Washington street until the January term of court, when it is likely he'll get a change of air and diet through going to San Quentin.

EAST OAKLAND ITEMS.

East Oakland Literary Society—New Houses—Professor Schulte—About the Bridge—Opening of Commerce Street—Jesse Shephard's Concert Last Night.

The proposed opening of Commerce street is again arousing the interest of the property owners in the vicinity. While all would like to see the improvement go on, a majority object altogether to having it done in the manner proposed. It is proposed to assess the property owners two blocks on each side of the proposed new street, the full length of it, to purchase the right of way. They argue that the proposed improvement is mainly intended to benefit two or three large property owners, and that instead of receiving benefit from it they will be injured. The city Council at a late meeting decided that the assessment should be made as stated, and preparations are being made to resist it. There will no doubt be a lively time over it.

Dr. Merritt is going to lease the site of his old wharf (lately filled in), on the Brooklyn side of the bridge, for a coal and wood-yard, to Purrington & Ough. General Williams hesitates to build, as he intended, on the fine site abutting on the northeast of the bridge, a short time since leveled off by him, and planted with ornamental trees, until he ascertains what can be done to purify that side of the lake—now noisesome with foul odors. The establishment of a coal and wood-yard on the opposite corner is not calculated to encourage him; and it is said the two men of millions (Williams and Merritt) are watching each other with reference to the control of property in that locality. That Dr. Merritt has some designs in his head with regard to the improvement of that locality is evident.

Several new houses have been commenced since our last report, the most important of which is that of Mr. Richard Ough, of the firm of Power & Ough, and is intended for his own private residence. It is on the corner of Fourth avenue and Sixteenth street, three blocks back of Tubbs' Hotel. It will be a large, one-story cottage, with brick foundation and attic rooms, and will possess all the modern improvements. It will have two large parlors and two immense bay windows and a piazza all around. In the back part of the house will be conservatory which will receive light and heat from a dome as well as its sides. Mr. William Power also intends building on the same block at no distant day. We congratulate these gentlemen on having secured so eligible a location for their future homes.

Professor Schulte's house on Fifth avenue is to let, as the Professor is preparing to leave on his Eastern and European mission, in the service of the California Immigrant Union. He feels much chagrined and disappointed that neither the Mayor nor the City Council have taken any steps to provide him with a view of Oakland for exhibition abroad. The Professor is one of the oldest residents of Oakland, and an enthusiastic admirer of her beauties. Before settling here, he had made the tour of the world, and he speaks knowingly when he says that no other country offers a fairer view for a picture then that to be obtained of Oakland from the Brooklyn heights. It is a pity that nothing has been done in this matter. At least the proposition deserved the courtesy of a reference to it at the hands of the City Council.

Last evening the Brooklyn Literary Society held their second regular meeting in Odd Fellows' Hall. Notwithstanding the musical entertainment at Tubbs' Hotel, the hall was filled to its utmost capacity. The exercises began with a few remarks by the President on the importance and advantages of literary societies, which were well delivered and received. A song by Mrs. Peterson followed, which was exceedingly well rendered, and applauded by the Society. The debate was next in order. The question was—Resolved, That the so-called inflation policy would be injurious to the best interests of the United States. Affirmative—Holliday, Elliot and Oliver. Negative—Sullivan and Holmes. After a well contested debate the question was decided in favor of the negative. Recess and refreshments next followed, during which many persons became members. After adopting a programme for the next regular meeting, on Wednesday Oct. 20th, and transacting the remaining business, the Society adjourned. The question to be discussed at the next regular meeting is—Resolved, "That the Bible should not be read in the public schools." Affirmative, McGrew; negative, Oliver.

There was a crowded company at Tubb's Hotel last evening to witness, or rather hear, the wonderful performances of Jesse Shepard, the musical prodigy. As Jesse claims to be aided by the angels in his efforts, the spiritual element of the population was largely represented. At eight o'clock the seance commenced, and the appearance of the performer was the signal for an exclamation of admiration, especially by the ladies, who were present in great force. He is a tall young man of about 28 years of age, and physically is an Adonis. He wore a red smoking cap and was encased in a short velvet coat and exquisitely cut pair of pants, developing a form of rare symmetry. His hair is dark, his face long and comely and his eyes large and lustrous. With the exception of a moustache, his face was clean shaven; but that moustache! It is a stunner, and the owner of it cannot by any possibility be short of angelic! As a pianist and vocalist there is no doubt Mr. Shepard possesses rare ability. After playing a few selections on the piano with the lights all on, he had the piano removed and the gas turned off, leaving the room in total darkness. He sang "Annie Laurie," in imitation of Kate Hays; a Russian song and one in which he took bass and contralto parts together, accompanying himself on the piano. The performance concluded with a terrific storm of sounds on the piano, in which the barbaric music of the ancient Assyrians and Egyptians was immitated. Well it was awful. We cannot pretend to describe it. It seemed as if the piano were torn to pieces several times. It yelled and screamed and gave forth unearthly sounds. That late musical miracle, "the storm," was not a circumstance to it. That the piano made several jumps in the air we are certain. It really seemed to be possessed, animated, excited, mad! We do not think there was a note in it that was not brought out, and, instead of being manipulated by one pair of hands, it seemed as if there were a dozen magnetic performers pounding upon it. The Professor was very particular in enforcing stillness during the darkness, and on one occasion he said he had heard whispering going on in the further end of the room. He felt embarrassed at the unusually large attendance, fifty (at two dollars a ticket), being as many as he cared to perform for. He hated crowds. Last night the charge was one dollar, and every one seemed satisfied that they had got their money's worth.

OUR OPEN DOORS.

Suggestions and Complaints from Citizens—Points Worth Pondering Over.

We to-day present some additional communications from correspondents. They are as follows:

LIQUOR LICENSES.

MR. EDITOR: I desire to call the attention of the public through the columns of your widely-circulated paper to what seems to me to be a great injustice to a particular class of citizens—namely, the saloon keepers. They are not only taxed the same as other people, but pay in addition thereto an exorbitant license fee for the privilege of selling their goods. No class of people contribute so much money to the City Treasury as do we saloon keepers, yet we are cramped in our business by the very authorities who make us pay tribute to them. We have to close our places of business at 12 o'clock at night, and any failure on our part to do so is met with a heavy penalty. Now, I protest against this as being wrong. We should be allowed to carry on our business at the hours which are most seasonable to us. It is not unfrequently the case that we could do a large amount of trade after the prescribed hour, and no one be injured by our keeping open. Now, sir, wouldn't it be well for all the saloon keepers to petition the Council to allow us to keep open at all hours, so long as we enforce the maintenance of good order in our houses? SALOON KEEPER.

FIREPROOF ROOFING.

MR EDITOR: A method of making wooden roofs fireproof, which is far superior to any other that I know of, is that adopted throughout Canada. The roof is close-boarded, and, just before the shingles are put on, the boarding is covered with a heavy coat of ordinary plastering mortar, put on in strips, about a yard wide at a time, into which the shingles bed solidly. I have seen such roofs exposed to fire, and they are to all intents and purposes fireproof. Much more so, indeed, than any painted roofs. In addition to the fireproof qualities, the shingles, being bedded solidly, are not easily split. No dust or wind can get through the roofing, and the shingles, becoming saturated with the lime water from the mortar, are toughened. They also remain clean and free from moss. If such a roof is covered with fireproof paint it becomes still better. The additional cost of a roof shingled as above described would be about one cent per square foot. J. J. N.

THE DISTRICT TELEGRAPH.

MR. EDITOR: I was called upon one day this week by a young man who said he was the agent of the District Telegraph Company, and he wanted me to let him put a box in my house, for which privilege I would have to pay two dollars and a half per month. I heard the man's story, and I came to the conclusion that the little machine he carried around was a great deal like some patent medicines, "good for everything, yet really good for nothing." The little box, I was informed would keep away thieves, catch burglars, put out fires, bring the police, summon errand boys in an instant and perform a list of wonders that I cannot recall. I suppose from the police duty which is promised to be performed by this magical telegraph, that each police man will have one of the little boxes attached to him, sleeping and waking, and a long wire also to draw him right to the spot when anything wrong is going on. Now, it seems to me that a man is safer without the patent contrivance than with it. I for one think that it is one of those speculative schemes that really gives nothing for the money paid out. MERCHANT.

HOW IS THIS?

MR. EDITOR: It is reported that the Police and Fire Alarm Telegraph of the City of Oakland is shortly to be handed over to a private corporation. If this be so, isn't the city giving away a valuable franchise and getting nothing in return? It behooves the officials who have the care and keeping of our rights and property to see that they are not fritted away. We lost our beautiful and valuable water front through some ill advised legislation, and this should be a lesson for us to remember a long, long time. We should take heed by it, and be benefitted by it, for it cost us much. I must confess that there seems to be "a nigger in the wood pile" somewhere, and that hidden Ethiopian is none other than the grasping and unscrupulous WesternUnionTelegraphCompany which gobbles up everything that it can lay its greedy hands upon. It bleeds the public at every pore, and the public should always be on the guard to prevent it acquiring any more valuable franchises without first paying an adequate price for them. Better than all, don't give or sell that corporation, its allies or its agents any property which they may use for the oppression of the people. AN HUMBLE CITIZEN.

CHICAGO, October 13.—A grand banquet was given to President Grant, at the Palmer House, this evening, nearly four hundred prominent citizens participating. Mayor Calvin, in proposing the President's health, said he supposed it would be the last time they would have the pleasure of drinking General Grant's health as President. General Grant, in response, said he wished to rectify a mistake made by his honor the Mayor, that his term as President did not expire until 1877, and he expected to visit Chicago once a year. His answer has excited much comment, and there are doubts whether he was jesting or in earnest.

COLUMBUS, O., October 13.—Returns received up to this time indicate Hayes' election by at least ten thousand majority. The Democrats concede the State to the Republicans by 15,000 majority, and a fair majority in both branches of the General Assembly.

DES MOINES (Iowa), October 13—11 P. M.—Up to this hour the State Register has special dispatches giving pretty complete reports from sixty of the ninety counties of the State. Of these, 53 give Republican majorities aggregating 25,589, and 8 give Democratic majorities aggregating 5,003. These counties represent three-fourth of the votes of the State, and the returns from them indicate a Republican gain over 1874 of 3,000. The counties not heard from are mostly in the northwestern part of the State, and are the strongest Republican counties in the State. The Register estimates that these will make the total Republican majority in the State 33,000—a gain of over 5,000.

CINCINNATI, October 13.—Hamilton county gives a Republican majority on the State ticket of about 1,200. Cary, Democrat, for Lieutenant-Governor, runs behind his ticket everywhere. All of the Republican county ticket is elected, except County Commissioner and Probate Judge, but it will require the official count to determine accurately the election of these two. The majority for Hayes in the State is now put at 10,000.

OMAHA, Neb, October 13.—It is now estimated that the Republican majority in this State will be 10,000.

Begging Reduced to a Fine Art.

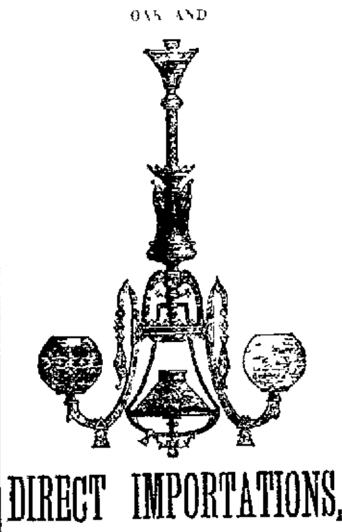

Begging has become a fine art in England and the tramps who go about the country making a livelihood out of the sympathies of the public have well defined routes and conduct operations with much system. In London and the large towns they have an alphabet of chalk marks which they put on doors and other places to indicate the character of the residents and the chances of obtaining aid. These marks indicate 1st, this road is better than the other 2d they will buy if you have what they want, 3d, good for food or something to eat 4th religious but good on the whole 5th, no good 6th spoilt by too many tramps, calling 7th likely to have you taken up 8th dangerous—sure of being sent to prison. These marks serve as guides to the professional mendicants Residents in some of our American cities and larger towns have been startled sometimes by finding their doors or gate posts curiously marked with chalk. Can it be that our American tramps are adopting the English system

—At the geographical exhibition at the Tuileries will be shown a map of France such as was never before seen. It will have cost more than 100,000 francs to get it up. That sum will surprise no one when we mention that the composition alone [illegible] 700 francs. It measures [illegible] and a half feet square and it is printed on lithographic stone, [illegible] high and forty five wide. It contains sixteen different [illegible]
